

Certificates that are accepted as proof of English language competence for the full time master degree programs "Sports, Culture & Event Management" and "International Business Studies" at the University of Applied Sciences Kufstein

Applicants, for whom English is not their first language, need to submit evidence that their English language proficiency meets the degree requirements (i.e. CEFR level B2) before the first day of the semester.

The University accepts the following internationally recognized English language certificates as evidence of applicants' competence in the English language:

- International English Language Testing System (IELTS)
- TOEFL Internet-based Test
- Cambridge English exams
- Pearson Test of English (PTE)
- LanguageCert

The scores achieved by applicants on any of the above-mentioned tests must demonstrate that they have reached the CEFR level B2.

If applicants don't have one of the above mentioned language certificates, they can submit a letter from a University/a School confirming their language competence at level B2.

Otherwise they can participate in the TOEFL ITP at the University of Applied Sciences Kufstein. Please register online for the TOEFL ITP:
